❖ PTA ACTIVITIES

Conducting effective parent – teacher conferences can boost family involvement in the classroom and help promote positive outcomes for us, our students and our parents.

It is indeed beneficial in many ways-

- Teachers can share academic progress of the child based on classroom observations, testing data, assessments and assignments.
- Discuss enrichment or intervention strategies to support students' learning.
- Discuss issues that may require attention of parents and family members and participation to improve the child's performance.

Brief Meetings –

Parent teacher activities are usually once in a month in the form of brief meetings. Its important to discuss factors that can affect learning such as studentbehaviour, work habits, peer problems etc. Parents and educators are both part of the instructional team and these meetings are important to strengthen that bond.

Queries Sorting and Counselling of Parents –

Teachers provide suggestions for better assessment of students and to support learning at home. Parents also benefit from sorting queries and doubts they have regarding academics or their child's performance and behaviour. Teachers are the best counselors. It has been observed that the teachers leave a great impact on both – Parents and students.

Mutual Participation of Parent/ Teacher -

Teaching is a two way process. The goal of it is to shape a better future of a child. Many parents compare their child to their peers, remind them that each child is special in his/her own way and has individual instructional levels. Teachers guide parents on how can they help their child to develop their social and academic skills.

Feedback and Outcome –

Schools incorporateParent Teacher activities like – Open House, Interaction through phone calls, Workshops for parents, Communication with father and mother regarding school system etc. These activities are very important for students' overall development and to maintain clarity and usefulness in communication. Parents and teachers should have the information they need to help students to enhance their skills and achieve success academically.

In short Parent- teacher collaboration is a simple practical tool for fostering communication between home and school.

“At the end of the day, the most overwhelming key to a child’s success is the positive involvement of parents and teachers.”
